Hospice at Home

Who are we?

Hospice at Home is a service that aims to support you and your carer at home/ residential home to help you achieve your preferred place of care.

What do we do?

The Hospice at Home service is provided seven days a week.

The service is designed to offer blocks of care to those individuals in their last few weeks of life. The blocks are usually between two and four hours and in some circumstances the blocks can run sequentially to provide a dying patient with almost 24 hour care.

The district nurse will need to be your main contact or 'key worker' and the Hospice at Home team will work alongside them and any other healthcare professionals involved in your care. We are an additional service and do not replace any services you are already receiving.

Allocation of care is decided on a daily basis and patients are prioritised according to their clinical need and support requirement at that time.

The team will review the level of support required at each visit and reassessment of ongoing support will occur at approximately six weekly intervals.

Ongoing support will be provided according to specialist palliative care need. Continuing care will be managed by your key worker. Hospice at Home can be contacted again and a re-referral made at any time.

Assessment, phone call and first visit

Following a referral to the Hospice at Home service the Co-ordinator will telephone you to discuss your requirements and the implementation of the service. On their first visit a member of the Hospice at Home team will assess your needs and discuss how we might be able to help.

The Hospice at Home team works in a holistic way and will liaise with your district nurse, any other healthcare professionals involved in your care and other members of the multidisciplinary team at the hospice to help ensure your needs are met.

You can contact the team on
